Dear Moonshot Committee team,

I'm writing to throw my hat into the ring for Moonshot – the only competition I didn't get to choose, but hey, sometimes destiny makes the best decisions for us, right?

In the grand scheme of life, I'm on a quest to become an average man, who has found a satisfactory job(possibly not Back-end developer or something similarly miserable in my eyes wink) to fulfill my not unworldly dreams, help me live a normal life with a wife and children and that would not make me miserable , but for this Iteration 1 letter of motivation I will immerse myself in a bit of a movie role character - maybe from The Wolf of Wall Street or something but for the world of entrepreneurship and would say something as cliché as possible like:

From building LEGO empires as a kid to dreaming up world-changing tech solutions(exaggerated), I've always been drawn to entrepreneurship. I see myself not just as an entrepreneur but as a cool-cat leader, steering the ship through the seas of innovation. I think the environment at Moonshot will sync perfectly with my vision of a world where creativity, teamwork, and minimal effort rule the day and help me cope a bit with reality.

The idea of crafting solutions to real-world problems using the magic of technology gets me out of bed in the morning, but not with a good feeling, because work is work at the end of the day. I'm not just here to create the next big thing; I'm here to create the next already made thing but just with a different twist that makes the world the same as before, because unfortunately I am not the next Nikola Tesla.

Moonshot is my golden ticket to turbocharge my journey from aspiring entrepreneur with zero experience and still a student to almost the real deal. I'm stoked about the chance to learn from the pros, team up with fellow visionaries a.k.a students, and soak in all the wisdom this competition has to offer.

In a nutshell, I'm thrilled about the idea of participating in Moonshot, adding some spice to my entrepreneurial dreams, and making good memories. Thanks for considering my application.

Looking forward to hearing from you,

Vasil Kamberov
